Secretary Bryan has pointed out how useless it is for Democrats to say that they approve of everything President Wilson has done unless Nearly $300,000 Worth of they translate their words into deeds by voting for the democratic nomi-dees for the Senate and for Congress in November. The man who pretends to be an admirer of the President and a supporter of his policies MANY BEAUTIFUL and then for any reason refuses to give him the votes he needs in Congress to pass his bills, reflects on his own intelligence and sincerity. The President has many broad plans to improve conditions everywhere and bring prosperity to the people. There are those who would have given no small sum to have been within hearing distance while President Wilson and Col. George Harvey were conversing in the White House. Mutual friends used to say that it was as good as a play to watch the flashes that sprang from a crossing of those two keenest of minds over a luncheon table. Official etiquette forbids divulgence of presidential conversations, but a friend of a prominent inmate of the White House says that a little bird told him that Mark Twain's name came up in some connection, and that Col. > Just before her death Mrs. Tom Franklin, of near Hematite, in the western part of this county, last Saturday told of over $1,400 in money which she had buried, and upon investigation the money was found to be just as Mrs. Franklin had said.

Mrs. Franklin was about seventyfive years of age and was born and had always lived in that section of the county. It was known by most everyone that she had some money, but no one knew anything about where it was, but just before her death she told some of the members of her family that they would find this money, over $1400 in all, buried in the old well house. There was about $1,000 in greenbacks, nearly $400 in silver and about $80 in gold. It was buried in a box and was in a very good state of preservation. It is thought that this money had been buried there since the Civil War, over fifty years ago.

Mrs. Franklin was a highly-respected old lady, and is only survived by one daughter, Mrs. King Birdsong, of that section of the county. She was also the grand-mother of Mrs. Lucy Sanders, of this place, and is also survived by quite a lot of other relatives. Her remains were buried in the old Franklin graveyard near where she died and had always lived .- Cadiz Record.

Democratic Ticket.

FOR CONGRESS. David H. Kincheloe.

FOR SENATOR. (Long Term.) J. C. W. Beckham.

FOR SENATOR. (Short Term.) JOHNSON N. CAMDEN.

The feeling amongst the Republican leaders in opposing Willson's candidacy for the senate is bitterer in the mountains than anywhere else. Although in those districts the republicans in the past, have secured their biggest vote, this year Willson will be deserted by thousands who woted for him for Governor. It is generally conceded that he is the weakest man his party could have nominated. He can gain no votes from the Democratic ranks, the progressives have no confidence in him, and his own party followers refuse to enthuse over his candidacy.

In his letter to Congressman Underwood President Wilson commends the work of the Democratic Congress and confesses that without their aid it would have been impossible for him to have carried out the policies to which the democracy stands pledged. It will be necessary for the President to have a democratic house and senate next year to complete the work he has so admirably begun. The election of Governor Beckham and Senator Camden is, for that reason, is most important. To send a Republican to the Senate from Kentucky this year would be a rebuke to the President and a blow to the party in this state from which it would never recover.

Every reference made by Secretary Bryan to the Peace Policy of offense, punishable with death." It the President in Mexico was heartily applauded. That is true not only in Kentucky, but wherever the Secretary of State has spoken. The people endorsed President Wilson's during a debate on the scandal of Mexican policy for its wisdom and packed juries during the Irish humanity and in November they are going to show their unqualified approval by voting for the Democratic nominees. As Mr. Bryan well says, this is not a one-man campaign and it would have been impossible for the President to have put his ideas into laws if he had not had Demo- careless enough to remark, "The time cratic support in both houses. A vote for Beckham and Camden for the Senate and for Dave Kincheloe for Congress, is the surest and quickest way to bring joy to the heart of President Wilson.

Mr. Bryan has published over his signature in the Commoner an editorial reviewing Governor Beckham's political career and strongly endorsing his candidacy for the Senate. No higher compliment could be paid any man than to have the friendship of William Jennings Bryan, because he himself is a pure man and a patriot and he only stands for those men who are clean, able and loyal to the party principles. All the years that Mr. Bryan has been in public life battling for the great ideas that are now the very foundation of democracy, Mr. Beckham has been his staunch supporter and defender. Governor Beckham, at the Masonic Temple, in Louisville, stated that if elected to the Senate he would stand by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan and hold up their hands in the brave battle they are making for the rights of the people.

Invention of Engineer Destroys Not Only the Grasshoppers, But Also Their Eggs.

A new machine has just been invented by an engineer, Mr. Friggeri, for the destruction of insects. This electric machine has been tried at Palacios, in the province of Santa Fe in the Argentine Republic.

On a carriage that is easy to transport, Mr. Friggeri places a gasoline motor and an alternating current generator. At the back of the carriage a drum is placed, on which about two hundred meters of insulated cable have been rolled.

This cable carries the current to metallic net or system fixed upon a little vehicle with two wheels, and which carries in its center a transformer that is destined to raise the tension to 6,000 volts and even more.

With the same apparatus provided with a metallic broom worked at the end of an insulated handle, and which is joined to the positive pole of the transformer, it is also possible to completely clean the trees attacked by insect parasites.

WHY TELEGRAPH WIRES HUM.

Many reasons have been given as to why telegraph wires hum. Some say that the sound is caused by the action of the wind and others that it is the result of changes in temperature. Professor Field of the University of Ottawa, says that zeither of these explanations is correct, but that the sound is due to the vibrations of the earth. The vibrations of the earth are transmitted to the wires through the poles. This authority further states that the song of the wires is the song of the barometer and that the variations are in direct relation to variations of the weather. Changes in the vibration of the earth indicate approaching changes in the condition of the atmosphere. If the sound of the wires is low it is probable that the weather will change in a day or two, but if it is sharp a momentary change may be expected.-American Boy.

A French contemporary has been amusing itself by making a list of long street names. The Parisian record is the Rue des Pretres-Saint-Germain-l'Auxerrois, which is somewhat of a mouthful, but is equalled by a thoroughfare in Brussels re-joicing in the name of the Rue de la Montagne aux Herbes-Potageres. In the environs of the Belgian capital there is even more of a tongue-twister, the Ongeschildezilverenockernootjestraat, which may be rendered as the street of the little unpicked sil-

BUILD UP NATIONAL FORESTS

More Than a Million Acres Have Been Acquired for the Purpose Since the Year 1910.

The lands approved for acquisition by the government for national forest purposes in the East since the beginning of the purchase policy in About two million dollars of the cal year 1915. The lands favorably New Hampshire, while 971,000 acres Advertisement. are in various parts of the southern Appalachians from Virginia to Georgia. Nearly four hundred thousand acres were approved for purerage price of $4.96 an acre.

As areas of suitable size are built up by the government through successive purchases they are placed under a system of organized administration, with local officers of the government's forest service in charge. The first object is to protect the forest against fire, for the twofold purpose of steadying stream flow and increasing timber production. There is, however, provision for all forms of use of the forests not inconsistent with their permanent welfare as sources of timber and water supplies. Some of the areas are already beginning to yield revenue to the government through the sale of timber, which can be removed with benefit to the remaining stand. Eventually it is expected that they will prove excellent investments, besides yielding important public benefits.

It was the custom of one of the managers to criticize every individual performance at each new town the company visited after the fall of the curtain on the stage. One night he did not say anything to young Loraine. He reminded the manager of his omission by saying: "As you did not say anything about my performance, I take it it was all right." Then came the icy reply: "I did not say anything about your show, because what I have to say to you I must say in private"

MOSQUITO NOT SOLE AGENT

Scourge of Malaria Has Been Proved to Exist in the Water and Soil of Many Countries,

At last some weight has been lifted from the shoulders of the mosquito. Dr. Charles S. Braddock, Jr., late chief medical inspector of the quito is the sole carrier of yellow fever, it is only one of the propagators of malaria. According to Doctor Braddock, malaria is by no means eliminated by the annihilation of the anopheles pest, except in localities where the disease is not endemic.

In true malarial countries the scourge exists in the water and soil, as in the deep jungles of Africa, Asia and America, while in the foothills of the Himalayas, where the thermometer drops to 34.5 degrees Fahrenheit in the cold season, when there are no mosquitoes, malaria is so deadly that the country has become uninhabited over large areas.

To do away with malaria in the tropics the doctor recommends the simple expedient of cutting away the jungle for a great distance in all directions from the habitation, so as to let the sun in. This, with the usual precautions of protection from mosquitoes and the drinking of distilled water, will prevent any epidemic of malaria in Panama or in any other country where it exists in the water and soil.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 23.-An injunction asked by J. R. Neighbors for himself and other members of his race preventing what is known as the 'segregation ordinance' from taking effect in Louisville has been denied by Judge Samuel B. Kirky. Judge Kirby, in passing on the case, reminded the plaintiffs that they have recourse in other courts, where, if the regroes persist in questining the constitutiona'ty of the law, it may be passed on quickly and finally. The negroes have raised a fund which they say will be used to make further attacks on the law which they claim to be confiscatory.

HISTORY OF POLO.

The international polo trophy began its existence in a modest fashion. It was a small cup presented by the Westchester club for competition, when John Watson, a famous hardriding Irishman, and his Hurlingham team went to America and won it in 1886. Polo was then only sixteen years old in England, and much younger in the United States. The cup remained in England for twentythree years, until Harry Payne Whitney's team brought it back to this country in 1909. Mr. Watson was undoubtedly the father of English polo. He learned the game with his regiment in India, where its origin is lost in antiquity. History is silent about the exploits of the Medes, but there is authentic evidence that the Persians played polo. In England it was at first sneered at and dubbed "croquet on horseback."

POMEROY RATS LIVED HIGH Had Royal Feed on Thousand-Dollar Public Building Bond Belonging to Ohio Bank.

That Cuyahoga county public building $1,000 bonds are good rat food was evidenced by a long envelope full of the much gnawed remains of one of these bonds brought to the county commissioners' office by a messenger from the First National bank.

The small pieces showed the bond was issued February 1, 1902, bore the serial number 768, maturing August 1, 1917, and that the 1914 coupon is still out.

The messenger explained the mutilated bond was received by the First National bank in Cleveland from the Pomeroy National bank at Pomeroy, O., with the information that rats had gnawed through a trunk where the bond had been kept and didn't stop until they had almost devoured the entire bond.

After a conference, County Commissioner Metzger said the owner of the bond either would be furnished a duplicate or another bond if the Pomeroy citizen will bear the expense.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HEART BEAT AFTER DEATH

Switchman's Pulsation Reported to Have Continued Long After Respiration Had Ceased.

Chicago medical circles were interested in the report of an interne in one of the largest hospitals in the city that the heart of a patient who died in his ward had continued pulsation two hours and forty minutes after the man's respiration had ceased. The report was made by Dr. L. G. Morrill of the staff of St. Luke's hospital.

The patient was George Fitch, fifty-two years old, a switchman, who had been caught between two freight cars. His chest was crushed. He was operated on and died the night of July 31. According to Doctor Morrill's report, breath stopped at midnight. Doctor Morrill remained by the man's side and discovered that his heart continued to beat. It did not cease until 2:40 o'clock in the morning, he declared, and, meanwhile, by every test the man's lungs were lifeless.

Physicians declared the case of extreme interest, and requested Doctor Morrill to elaborate his official report.

From Driver to Cleek, and Justifying Change.

There is still another class of golf shots, not so interesting, as they lack the physical power required, writes Jerome B. Travers in the American Magazine. An example is the shot at Shawnee. This hole is about two hundred and sixty-eight yards from the tee. It is guarded by a deep brook, and beyond the brook a deeided up-nill slope. Before Ray came up, Vardon, McDermitt and Alee Smith, all long hitters, took drivers and after clean wallops struck the side of the bank and fell short. The shot had to be nearly all carry, as the ground was soft from recent rains and the up-hill slope prevented much run. When Ray stepped up he took a look at the hole and then stepped back, called his caddie and replaced his driver, taking out a cleek. The crowd around gasped-and then laughed. But Ray knew what he was about. With a tremendous swipe he hurled the head of that cleek into the ball, and when it landed on a full carry the white pill was within ten feet of the cup. He had carried brook, slope and everything else in the way with a cleek, where other long players had failed with a club that is supposed to get 20 yards more distance.

CENTURY UNDER ENGLISH RULE.

One hundred years ago an agreement was reached by which the Cape of Good Hope, or Cape Colony, oc-Sc pound; live turkeys, 14c per cupying the southern extremity of Africa, was finally ceded to England. Originally discovered by the Portuguese navigator, Vasco da Gama, at the end of the fifteenth century, the cape was first colonized by the Dutch in 1650 and for nearly one hundred and fifty years the country remained under the Dutch flag. An English expedition took the colony during the Napoleonic wars and continued in possession until it was restored to the Dutch by the peace of Amiens in 1802. The colony was again taken by the English four years later and in 1814 the territory was finally ceded to England.
